Jeddah, Sept 11th 2012

Saudi Airlines Cargo has announced that it will provide access to 9 additional destinations in West Africa via its hub in Lagos, Nigeria.

With a daily B747 freighter to its Lagos hub and through interline partners, Saudia Cargo will now be able to serve the cities of Abidjan, Accra, Cotonou, Douala, Libreville, Lome, Malabo, Niamey and Ouagadougou.

“We are extremely excited to be introducing this new service to West Africa,” commented Peter Scholten, VP Commercial at Saudia Cargo. “By entering into cooperation with our interline partners, we will be able to offer greater connections to our customers as well as further expand our activities in this region, which has seen steady economic expansion over the last decade,” he added.
