

Wan Hai Lines, One of the World's Largest Carriers, Joins INTTRA's Network

Top twelve carriers now available through INTTRA

Parsippany, NJ, October 15, 2018 – INTTRA, the largest neutral network, software and information provider at the center of the ocean industry, today announced that Wan Hai Lines, Taiwan's premier shipping company, has joined its network. This addition means INTTRA is now working with the top 12 carriers^[1].

Wan Hai continues the global expansion of INTTRA's network. The addition of Wan Hai is significant as they are one of the top intra-Asia carriers based on market share, with that segment representing the largest containerized trade in the world.

In addition to offering the most extensive service network in Asia, Wan Hai has expanded to the US, South America and the Middle East in recent years. They will now be able to offer their customers a full range of solutions through INTTRA's network, including booking, shipping instructions, eVGM, Track and Trace, Bill of Lading, as well as Ocean Schedules.

"Wan Hai has all along been developing our EDI platform. With the addition of INTTRA, we hope to provide another option to our customers and further enhance our EDI services." said Randy Chen, Vice-Chairman, Wan Hai Lines.

"Earlier this year we announced that a number of new carriers joined INTTRA, including one of the top ten in the world. Today, we are delighted to welcome Wan Hai Lines, another one of the largest carriers, who will offer their customers access to the full range of INTTRA services,” said John Fay, CEO of INTTRA. “As our network scales, it delivers further advantages of digitalization to the ocean container community and provides its members with a one-platform connection to many shipping partners.”
